(A) Historical Landmarks and Developments ¹

19th c British and other foreign insurers established operations in Sri Lanka. General agents represented most companies, Foreign companies included Royal Assurance, New India and Ocean Accident & Guarantee Corporation.

1939 The first Sri Lankan insurer, Ceylinco Insurance Co Ltd, was established.

1951 The Motor Traffic Act No 14, requiring obligatory motor third party insurance, was passed.

1962 The Control of Insurance Act No 25 was introduced. Life insurance was nationalised (non-life followed in 1964) and the state insurer, Sri Lanka Insurance Corporation (SLIC), became a monopoly insurer. 1980 A second state-owned insurer, National Insurance Corporation (NIC), was opened for business in order to provide some competition for the SLIC.

1986 The Control of Insurance (Amendment) Act No 42 was placed on the statute book.

1989 The Insurance Association of Sri Lanka was established.

2000 The core legislation, the Regulation of Insurance Industry Act, No 43, was enacted.

2001 The Insurance Board of Sri Lanka, a new regulatory body, established by the 2000 act, started operations on 1 March.

2005 The compulsory fire tariff was abolished with effect from 1 January.

2007 The compulsory workers' compensation tariff was withdrawn with effect from 1 January.

2008 With effect from 1 January, insurers were obliged to cede 20% of their non-life reinsurance to the state-owned National Insurance Trust Fund (NITF).

2011 The Regulation of Insurance Industry (Amendment) Act No 3 became effective on 11 February. This increased the minimum capital requirement to LKR 500mn (USD 3.28mn at current rates of exchange) and abolished composite offices.

2013 The compulsory reinsurance cession to the NITF was increased to 30%.

2015 Most composite insurers split into separate non-life and life companies.

2016 The new risk-based capital regime became effective.

In 2020, Ceylinco General Insurance launched 'Drive Thru Claims.' Customers who do not opt to obtain claims using the On the Spot facility will be notified via SMS of the pending items and the documents required. Once the papers are handed over at the Dive Thru Centre, the customer will receive the cheque or cash within a few minutes.

In 2022, Sri Lanka Insurance partnered with SLIM Agrisaviya to nurture the agriculture sector. The Certificate in Agri-Business and Entrepreneurship (CABE) program is a first-of-its-kind qualification available in Sri Lanka to transform farmers into "Agriprenuers It is worth to be mentioned that 25.5% of the total employed population engaged in agriculture, inclusive of forestry and fishery.

(B) Regulatory Environment ²

As a relatively marginal sub-sector of the financial services industry, the insurance business is not subject to the same level of extensive regulation as banking. The Insurance Industry Act, approved in 2000, is the cornerstone legislation still governing the sector, although it has been amended on several occasions, including updates in 2011 and 2017 that ushered in some significant changes to the industry's landscape.

Chief among the reforms included in the amended act post-2011 - which came into force in January 2016 - was the obligation for composite insurance companies to segregate their life and non-life business lines into separate companies.

In addition, companies were given five years to comply with a new requirement that all insurers be listed on the Stock Exchange. All new insurers entering the market must be listed within three years of receiving a licence. However, enforcement of this reform was also patchy and in October 2017 the government confirmed new amendments to the Insurance Act to allow subsidiaries of foreign insurance groups that are listed on their respective stock exchanges to be exempt from the local listing requirement. State-owned insurance companies, including the SLIC and public reinsurer National Insurance Trust Fund (NITF), also benefit from the new flexibility.

Other key rules that regulate the industry include: An obligation to seek prior approval from the Insurance Regulatory Commission of Sri Lanka (IRCSL) for any change in ownership greater than 50% of share capital or voting rights; a minimum capital requirement of LKR500mn per class of insurance business; a capital adequacy ratio of at least 120%; a requirement for 30% of total liability from any reinsurance contracts to be reinsured with the NITF; and a levy of 0.2% and 0.4% on total net premiums in life and non-life businesses respectively, to be paid into the Policyholders' Premium Fund.

In 2018, a new tax system was introduced for life insurers, which had previously been able to reduce taxable income by deducting management fees. From April 2018, life insurers have been subject to a 28% tax on profits, while any surplus transferred to policyholders will also incur a 28% tax from April 2021 (following a three-year concessionary rate at 14%).

In the 2019 budget, the Finance Minister added a new tax on imported vehicles that could impact the dominant motor insurance segment. With the sector posting strong growth in recent years, efforts are also being made to update rules in order to promote professionalism, with a particular focus on consumer protection. In August 2018, the IRCSL announced that it would enter a memorandum of understanding with the Financial Intelligence Unit of the central bank in order to better share information on money laundering and terrorist financing.

Industry Regulators

Established in 2001, the IRCSL (https://ircsl.gov.lk/) is the regulator with oversight over insurance companies, intermediaries (agents and brokering companies) and loss adjusters. Citing the Insurance Industry Act, the IRCSL states that its chief responsibility is to ensure the professional and prudent management of insurance businesses so as to protect the interests of policyholders.

The IRCSL has the authority to license insurance companies and brokers as well as the power to suspend or revoke these licences in cases of non-compliance with the regulatory framework. In recent years, the board has temporarily suspended the licences of several brokers but has taken limited action against insurance companies.

The IRSCL is a member of the International Association of Insurance Supervisors and adopts some of the core principles for effective supervision and monitoring of the insurance industry.

Industry Associations

Insurance Association of Sri Lanka (IASL): The main industry body was formed in 1989. (IASL representing the interests of its members. The association has technical committees for non-life and life insurance and finance. Important issues affecting the whole industry are considered by the management committee, which represents the sector in its dealings with the regulator and other authorities and entities.

Sri Lanka Insurance Brokers Association (SLIBA) is the central organization for all registered insurance brokers in Sri Lanka. SLIBA is involved with elevating the status of its membership, safeguarding and advancing their interests whilst enhancing their general efficiency, technical knowledge and professional conduct.

Sri Lanka Insurance Ombudsman: The objective of the Sri Lanka Insurance Ombudsman scheme is the satisfactory settlement of complaints/disputes that policyholders of insurance companies (the insured) may have against the company that sold them the insurance policy (the insurer). Each participating Insurance Institution/company has established and nominated in each of their Institutions a senior and experienced officer designated as the "Complaints Settlement Officer" or "Complaints Resolution Officer" (or similar name).

Sri Lanka Insurance Institute (SLII): The specialist Sri Lanka Insurance Institute is the leading provider of education, training and professional studies dedicated to the insurance industry and is affiliated with the Chartered Insurance Institute of London.
